

Abstract

Pourable frying products that comprise an ester of citric acid with a mono-or diglyceride show improved spattering behaviour.